Assumptions

- I confirm that I have read and agree all the below and confirm that all the information given in respect of this request for insurance is accurate and complete and represents a fair presentation of the risks

Usage of Information

The information you provide will be used by the insurer to establish if it wants to take the risk and, if so, at what terms.

Fair Presentation of the Risks

You are required to disclose to the insurer information including material circumstances that fairly present the risks that would be insured should the insurer decide to take those risks.

A fair presentation of the risks means that, in addition to answering any questions asked of you, you must:

- disclose to the insurer every material circumstance which you know or ought to know or, failing that, sufficient information to alert the insurer of the need to make further enquiries, and
- make such disclosure in a reasonably clear and accessible manner, and
- ensure that, in such disclosure, any material representation as to a matter of:
 - fact is substantially correct, and
 - expectation or belief is made in good faith.

A circumstance or representation is material if it would influence the insurer's judgement (as a prudent underwriter) in determining whether to take the risk and, if so, on what terms. If you are in any doubt as to whether a circumstance or representation is material, then you should disclose it.

Change in Risk Information

The legal obligation of fair presentation applies if there is a change or variation in the risks that would be insured should the insurer decide to insure those risks and, if applicable, after you have accepted the insurer's offer of insurance including the period those risks are insured under the policy.

Disclosure and Accuracy of Information and Fair Presentation

You must take care to give accurate and complete information and make a fair presentation of the risks when applying for insurance and, if you purchase the insurance offered, when making changes to it. If the information you have given proves to be inaccurate or incomplete and/or is not a fair presentation of the risks:

- Before you accept an offer of insurance, the insurer may:
 - Amend the terms of the offer, or
 - Withdraw the offer.
- After you have accepted an offer of insurance, the insurer may:
 - Amend the terms of the insurance contract (policy) which, if applicable, may be applied as if they were in place prior to any claim where that claim was impacted by the inaccurate or incomplete information, or

Airport Contractors and Concessionaires Proposal Form

- If applicable, reduce the amount the insurer pays on a claim in proportion that the premium charged bears to the premium that the insurer would have charged you had the information not been inaccurate or incomplete, or
- Treat the policy if it had never existed, which means no claims will be paid under it and the premium paid will be returned to you. This will only be done if this insurance would not have been provided if the information given had not been inaccurate or incomplete.

If the insurer establishes that you deliberately or recklessly provided false or misleading information in relation to this insurance:

- Before you accept an offer of insurance, the insurer will treat the offer as if it never existed.
- After you have accepted the offer, the insurer shall treat the policy as if it never existed, which means no claims will be paid under it and the insurer will not return any premium paid.

Data Protection Statement

You should understand that any information you have provided will be processed by the insurer in compliance with the provisions of the Data Protection Act 1998, for the purposes of providing insurance and handling claims or complaints, if any, which may necessitate providing such information to other parties.
